All the usual suspects are there - Sherlock star Benedict Cumberbatch, Simon Callow from Four Weddings and a Funeral and Vanessa Redgrave.

They're appearing in a number of short films for the campaign group Liberty to big up an act that actually hasn't been around very long and which for all its perceived merits, has some glaring flaws, too.

Tears

Of course, because the words "human rights" are in there it becomes an emotive subject, and luvvies are often known as being able to burst into tears on tap. However, what they wilfully ignore is that 'human rights' did not suddenly begin to exist in 1998 when Tony Blair signed us up to the European Convention of Human Rights.

The victims had been beaten, executed and buried in a mass grave. A judge ruled evidence of his involvement was "not conclusive" and under the Human Rights Act did not warrant breaching his "family life".

Now the 62-year-old lives on a council estate in south east London. But what about the human rights of his alleged victims?

What about the human rights of his neighbours on that London estate?

Flaws

The luvies are acting as though the Human Rights Act is like Magna Carta, or as if it was brought down Mount Sinai by Moses.

It isn't, and it wasn't. It's just yet another piece of legislation that quite clearly has flaws.

And because we can't change it we need to opt out of it and have a new piece of legislature.

SINGING a "suggestive song" wearing fishnet stockings in front of her violin teacher was not "an invitation to rape", a woman has told a jury.

Malcolm Layfield, 63, is said to have used his "power and influence" to rape the then 18-year-old student in the back of his car during a trip to Cornwall in the early 1980s.

Giving evidence today, his accuser denied she willingly had sex in the vehicle with the defendant, who taught her at Chetham's School of Music and the Royal Northern College of Music, both in Manchester.

Earlier on the night of the alleged rape she agreed she performed a song called The Masochism Tango, wearing fishnet stockings and a black dress as part of a cabaret.

Benjamin Myers QC, representing Layfield, said to the complainant: "You put yourself centre stage in a highly sexualised song directed straight at Mr Layfield?"

A BULL, which was famously saved from slaughter after his owner thought he was gay, has shocked his owners by trying to mate with cows.

mate with cows.

As regular readers might remember, Benjy the bull, from County Mayo, was originally facing death last year because he showed more interest in other bulls than in cows.

However, after late Simpsons co-creator Sam Simon stumped up the money to buy him, Benjy was moved to Hillside Animal Sanctuary in Norwich, England.

After being castrated, Hillside staff noted that he showed a special interest in some of the cows he was housed with.

42 minutes stuck below water - but miracle boy lives!

DOCTORS are baffled after a 14-year-old boy survived after being trapped underwater for 42 MINUTES.

The teenager, who has een identified only as Michael, jumped off a bridge in Cuggiono, near Milan, with five friends into just 6.5 FEET of water. While at the bottom of the murky canal, Michael's heart stopped and he was presumed dead.

But after almost an But after almost an hour it was restarted with a defibrillator and the boy spent a month recovering in hospital.

Dr Alberto Zangrillo said Michael's survival was "the greatest satisfaction of my entire professional career". Michael's leg had to be amputated below the knee due to circulation problems, but he has not suffered any brain damage and is "alert". Dr Zangrillo added:

"The other day he asked us for a mojito."

With being a LESBIAN!

The 29-year-old model, who previously dated Mysterious Girl singer Peter Andre, confessed she "wouldn't rule out" dating another woman. And she also warned blokes about the perils of having a threesome, saying their girlfriends "might like it too much!"

Casey, 32G, from Essex, said: "I don't know why some people are so scared of the word 'lesbian' - it's ridiculous!

"I know someone who is female and straight, but just one time she developed feelings for another woman.

"Does that mean she's bisexual? Probably not, it just means she had a

Werewolf guru Rick quits flicks

THE special effects guru who made American Werewolf In London so terrifying has sensationally quit the industry, labelling Hollywood too CHEAP. Movie legend Rick Baker won the Best Makeup Oscar for 1981's Werewolf (above) and also created the monsters in flicks like The Houling, Gremlins and Men In Black 3.

But Rick, 64, slammed: "The time is right. I'm 64 years old and the business is crazy right now.

"I like to do things right, and they wanted cheap and fast.
"That is not what I wanted to do, so I just decided it's basically time to get out."
Speaking about his work on recent Angelina Jolie movie and CGI-fest Maleficent, he added: "I could have done it in a garage, basically.

"I would consider maybe designing and consulting on something, but I don't think I'Il have a huge working studio any more."

THEY might drink Um Bongo in the Congo - but they don't know how to MASTURBATE.

And beating the meat in one US state could be the last thing you ever do!
Swedish sex toy outfit Lelo.com have trawled through the archives to dig up the top 10 weirdest facts about wanking.

And they worken the traveal.

weirdest facts about wanking.
And they reckon that several groups in the African Congo basin have absolutely NO IDEA about the concept of self-love.
Our glamour model Rachel Fitzpatrick, 23, commented: 'I touch myself at least once a day
- I don't think I could survive without it!"
Horn's their shocking to 10

Here's their shocking top 10...

1) THE earliest records of masturbation came from the ancient civilisation of Sumer, which dates back to 2500 BC.

The Sumerians encouraged the act either solo or with a partner in order to help enhance potency.

2) WHILE many people look to the legendary 400BC Kama Surra text as the ultimate guide to acrobatic sex positions, the book also offers some handy wanking tips. One such pointer tells you to "churn your instrument with a lion's pounce - sit with legs stretched out at right angles to one another, propping yourself up with two hands planted on the ground in between them, and it between your arms."

3) THE Judeo-Christian view of as the state of th became a popular term for ripping the end off.

4) IN several groups within the African Congo Basin, there is no word for waxing the dolphin, and they are wholly unfamiliar with the concept.

5) IN the Shakespearean b) IN the Snakespearean play A Winter's Tale, which was written around 1610, a joke is made from a servant's line deeming a travelling minstrel's songs to be "without bawdy" because he doesn't understand the word "All'Ar"

The line reads: "He hath songs for man or woman, of all sizes; no milliner can so fit his customers with gloves: he has the prettiest love-songs for maids; so without bawdry, which is strange; with such delicate burthens of dildos and fadings."

6) In the United States, the New Haven law of 1656 meant that in Connecticut, those found guilty of choking the chicken could be given the DEATH PENALTY.

7) WHILE Victorian doctors 7) WHILE Victorian doctors were famously helping women orgasm to cure hysteria, they were also advising all sorts of methods to keep young men from stroking the salami. Practices included tying their hands to bedposts.

It was thought that masturbation would lead to a weakness of character. And the clap.

And the clap.

8) DR John Harvey Kellogg (yes, that Kellogg) is quoted as saying: 'If illicit commerce of the sexes is a heinous sin, self-pollution is a crime doubly abominable.' Kellogg ran a sanitarium in the late 1800s where he enforced a strict vegetarian diet, believing meats and spices to excite the libido. In fact, that is how corn flakes came to be invented.

9) THE world's oldest surviving grumble flick – El Sartorio – is thought to have been made in Argentina in 1907.

It features three women bathing in a river, who have sex with each other and then with the devil.

10. In 1991, one of the most famous cases of a well-known celebrity being caught polishing the pearl in public involved Paul Reubens, aka Pee-wee Herman.

Whipped treat leads to a cream en

Dear Jemma.

I'D never enjoyed giving blowjobs, but now I can't get enough - thanks to whipped cream.

It began a couple of weeks ago when I went out with my new fella for dinner and I ordered a banana split.

I was tearing him by eating the banana in a saucy way and I told him I'd eat anything covered in tream.

him I'd eat anything covered in cream.

He knew what I meant, and the next time he called to pick me up he brought a can of the squirty stuff.

I invited him to show me what he had on the menu and he dropped his pants. I must say I was mightily impressed with the size of his banana.

I alipped out of my dress and

Dear Jemma,

dropped to my knees. His cock was standing to attention, so I squirted the cream along its length before wrapping my lips around it.

The cream tasted delicious when mixed with his manly scent as I licked and sucked to his obvious joy. In fact, he was so hot that the cream started to melt as I slurped and licked at his burning flesh.

Soaking

I encouraged him to return the favour by spreading my thighs and put a mound of cream on my clitty and told him to enjoy his meal.

meal.
For the next 15 minutes or so he lapped at my soaking pussy and I came over and over again.
By the time we were both satisfied, there wasn't a single squirt of the cream left.
A couple of nights later we were in his car when he pushed my head down to his lap and unzipped his flies to reveal his massive hard-on. But all I could think was that the last time had been so good I didn't want to eat it without a topping.

I scooped out a handful and smeared it on his rampant manhood before giving him an ice-cold blowjob.

Now it's an essential part of our regular foreplay and I can't imagine giving him a blowjob without it.

Flash of inspiration

Dear Jemma,

LAST month I bought a videocam and jokingly said to the missus, "Go on, give us a flash then"
A sly smile crept across her face and she pulled up her top and started tweaking her nipples.
She then let me film her as she played with her fanny. It was complete hard-core.
But now she wants me to put the vid on the internet. Should I be worried?

TE, Lines

Jemma savs...

NO, just go with the flow - and she's gushing.

Dear Jemma.

I HAVE moved into a new house and my neighbour's bedroom is in line with my bathroom window.

She is a divorcee with a lusty lad of about 20 and I get to see them shagging most nights.

I bring myself off as they screw, but I reckon they have seen me. Should I give up my viewing?

HN, Teesside

Jemma savs...

THEY might enjoy being watched, so carry on!

Dear Jemma.

I'M 36 and I recently got married for the second time. My new husband is sweet and very generous and he gets on well with my second time. My new husband is sweet and very generous and he gets on well with my two children.

But he's a dead loss in the sack and I am left frustrated after intercourse.

So recently I have been seeing my ex-husband behind his back. He is an amazing performer in bed and never fails to make me orgasm.

We get together on Saturday afternoons while my husband goes to watch cricket, and I always feel satisfied.

Last week my hubby went to an away match — and within 30 minutes of him leaving my ex was knocking at the door.

We stripped and he brought me off with his tongue before I sucked him off.

Next I got on all fours and he thrust into me from behind — just a routine session with this horny man!

But now I'm feeling guilty. What should I do?

DW. North London

Jemma says...

STOP it, plain and simple.

Dear Jemma.

I'M a 33-year-old woman with a husband AND a lover. The trouble is, my hubby is also sleeping with my lover.

Needles to say I'm bisexual, which he knew when he we wed two years ago.

During le first year our sex life was great, but then it went stale so I set out to find a lesholover.

I went to a gay club and met a blonde with huge breasts and we were soon snogging in a dark corner.

As we kissed, she slid her hand up my skirt and started to finger me. Ten minutes later we were in her flat, stark-naked and licking each other out.

Then she took a dildo and slipped it in my fanny while she brought me to organ by licking my clit.

After a great session I was looking around her flat and saw a picture of my husband.

When I asked her about it she said she had been seeing him for three months.

What should I do?

SK, Manchester

Jemma says...

Letter of

he day

GET together for a threesome.

www.TamedLife.co

YES, for your own peace of mind. It's your brain that needs testing as well as your knob.

LAST week I was drinking in an unfamiliar pub when I clocked a stunna alone at the bar.

I went over and chatted her up but, as she was in the ladies, a guy warned me: "You want to be careful there, they've all had her."

I took no notice and back at my place we were soon stripped off. She gobbled me to hardness, nibbling and teasing my bellend before sinking my whole shaft to the back of her throat.

I swivelled round so that her furry bush was over my face and I thrust my tongue deep into her dripping cunny.

After gerging myself on her musky love-juices for a bit, I licked the length of her slit.

Then I got her love-bean between my lips and sucked hard on it as she wriggled her round arse in appreciation.

We spent hours banging away before finally collapsing exhausted.

But a bloke came up to me in the pub the other night and reckoned he'd caught a dose off the same woman. So now I'm in a right old swest. Should I have a check-up?

AF, Lanes

A new survey has revealed that the most popular destination for couples having affairs is MANCHESTER!

MANCHESTER!
Unfaithful partners tend to prefer the north west city over more "upmarket" locations, such as London and Cambridge.
Other top destinations
for affairs include Oxford,
Bristol and Birmingham,
according to married dating site Ashley Madison.
The poll found that the Scottish Highlands were the most popular countryside retreat for cheaters.

Nightlife

The Lake District and the Kent coast also ranked high among the website's UK registered users.

Noel Biderman, founder of Ashley Madison, said: "Manchester is a city renowned for its cultural diversity and nightlife.
"Cheaters are usually looking to have fun with their affair partner, away from the monogamy and stresses of their marriage.
"So Manchester is really the perfect destination for those looking for a bit of excitement."

OUR SPORTS BETTING GURU WILL PUT YOU ON A WINNER!

LIFE is all about the LIFE is all about the children dontcha know.

So we must pay attention when England under-20s take on Mexico under-20s tonight. I mean, it's on the telly and we are a bit short of betting opportunities this evening.

I confess. I cost us one. There were these two moths crawling up my shower wall this morning. Probably came out of my wallet. Good race it was and all. 5/6 each of two.

Then one of the overgrown caterpillars switched round and looked at me funny so I twatted him with my egg cup and a two-moth race became a walk over. Or fly-over. Or flutter-over. Whatever.

Anaarrggghh. What we gonna bet on today?

We'll have a look at the England kids. The game is staged at Barnet FC, ah romance, and it is on BT Sport 1. Reminds me, must pay the phone bill.

Joking aside there are some good players on view.

Arsenal's Chuba Akpom came off the bench to spare England's blushes in a 3-3

He was only beaten 3L and ended up clocking a pretty decent time of 28.69.

There are greyhounds still in the Derby who clocked significantly slower and if he runs to that level here then he will take some beating.

The only slight worry is he's not been at Hove for a while but his previous form is top drawer. If he can adjust back to these boxes quickly then he should run out a comfortable winner.

GOSDEN'S A Trainer has the Horn for Derby

THE perfect storm is brewing over the Surrey downs on Saturday.

Saturday.
The archeotypal Englishman saddling the winner of our finest Classic. The Epsom Derby.
Ridden by our finest Englishman. Frankie Dettori.
Moot point. He was born in Milan in 1970, his dad was Italian too — Gianfranco — he might be a Gooner (and it is tough to forgive him for this), but British racing owes Lanfranco Dettori a damn sight more than he owes us.

sight more than he owes us.

Walk down any street in this country and ask any passer-by who they know in the sport of kings?

Big Mac or Frankie, that is what you will get.

On Saturday, Dettori has been handed the chance to help himself handed the chance to help himself to a Derby winner.

Golden Horn is saddled by John Gosden and ridden by Frankie.
Gosden popped his Derby cherry just shy of two decades ago by winning the premier Classic with Benny The Dip in 1997.
And the millions amongst us who backed the second. Silver econd. Silve Patriarch, Patriarch, will have the latter's jockey Pat Ed-dery consigned to room 101 for ever more. Gosden re-called the yange called the vague instructions gave to winning jockey Willie Jockey Willie Ryan that day. "Just go when you feel like it," the trainer told Ryan, who took him at his word, nim at his word, pressing the button on Benny The Dip with half a mile to travel.

This would hardly count as orthodox tactics, in view of pre-read doubts about Ins would hardly count as orthodox tactics, in view of pre-race doubts about whether Benny The Dip's stamina could stretch to a mile and a half, but the trainer now hails it as "a race-winning move".

Ryan had pinched a three-length break on the field by the two-furlong stick but then came what must have been the longest 30 seconds of Gosden's life as his colt got slower and slower while Eddery drove Silver Patriarch closer with each stride.

Delighted as he might be with Ryan's ride, the trainer had expected to be legging-up a different jockey that day, Dettori. At a late stage, the Italian was claimed by Godolphin to ride an outsider who was eventually beaten by 25 lengths.

The lockey's services are re-was eventually beaten by 25 lengths.

The jockey's services are retained these days by Qatari owners, but they only have so many horses.

many horses.

Quality rides were scarce.
Gosden recognised a talent going to waste.

He added: "He had two years where he wasn't, for a jockey of his class or quality, getting the horses to ride. I think he's enjoyed it, coming here in the mornings and riding work, plenty of reasons to get out of bed and get on with the day and there's no doubt he's still at the height of his powers.

"If you've won the Formula One world championship a couple of times, it's not an awful lot of fun running around in Formula Two cars. So if we are fortunate enough to have a few horses who can compete at the top level, then that's going to be very inspiring for him. Two clear chances in the Derby make Gosden the envy of his profession, occupying a position normally taken by Aidan O'Brien at this time of year. But, for once, O'Brien, triumphant at Epsom for the past three years, has been unable to produce a horse worthy of single-figure odds, making this Derby a fine opportunity for British-based trainers, who have not had the winner since 2010. Some see this as a low-quality Derby that may take little winning.
Despite all the ammo in his personal arsenal, Gosden is not that confident.

There's only one man for the job of enforcer — the beast that is ASHLEY WESTWOOD of Aston Villa.

He took to the field 25 times this season in the anchor role in front of the back four.

How many tackles per game did the modern Terry Hurlock manage? ONE is the answer. Our opposition in the Chumpions League next season will be doubling up on the shinpads when they see Westwood on the team sheet.

On to the attack and with such an array of quality behind them we need a frontline that will strike fear into any will strike fear into any defence.

The easiest choice of the whole team was ROBERTO SOLADO to lead our line.

He's been in amazing form for Tottenham this season. He was on the pitch for 1,265 minutes this season in the league and Europe — and banged in an impressive TWO goals.

Only one man comes close to that provess up front and that prowess up front and he's EMMANUEL RIVIERE of Newcastle United. Our boss

John Carver kept faith with the Frenchman, playing him for 1,215 minutes of Premier League action this season.

His return more than repaid that trust with a fantastic ONE goal — and even then the Toon still lost the match. To be fair, be held one excited that still lost the match. To be fair, he had one assist too.

It takes a massive figure to play alongside players of the calibre of Soldado and Riviere. It's also handy if he can play al little wider to give some much needed width to the attack. Send for ERIK LAMELA. He made 33 appearances on the left side of the Spurs attack and banged in an unstoppable two goals. SERGIO AGUERO is the man Real Madrid want to wrestle the title back from deadly rivals Barcelona.

Manchester City's red-hot striker has been identified as the Galactico the Spanish giants are putting their faith in.

They have made Aguero their number one target for the transfer window as they try to calm supporter unrest.

The faithful are not overjoyed by the sight of new manager Rafael Benitez and will be sicker still if Barcelona win another Champions League title at the weekend.

So president Florentino Perez is willing to spend the vast majority of his budget on the hitman, who turned 27 yesterday.

Figures of £65million and more have been bandied about for a player who was a big success at Atletico Madrid and has made no secret of his desire to move to their more illustrious neighbours.

The sticking point now will be the Blues' desire to keep hold of their main striker as they battle to win their title back.

But Aguero still owns a house near to Real's training ground and he told Spanish media when City played at the Bernabeu two seasons ago that he was sorry he couldn't move to the club, saying he had "no choice but to go to Manchester".
